Remember Who You Truly Are F/S

The true stories within these pages will show even the most skeptical that life is defined by how you allow yourself to believe it will be defined. The author describes the stories of three young boys journeys and the end of their journeys through lives that were cut far too short. If you have ever suffered the loss of a true friend, a soul mate, a sibling, or just a person in your life from whom you have learned, then you will want to know how you can honor and remember that person in a way that will help your soul to heal as well. So relax, read this book, and learn from it what you may be desperate to find.

Within these pages are the keys to help you begin the journey to loving, losing, and then moving on to being the best person you never expected you may be.

ancestral home in the rural South, this author

She developed an life's work to pass along their experiences. In this collection of original short stories, she pays homage to these ordinary folks through lyrical tributes, many of which have aired or will air on National Public Radio. Her own program, Just Plain Folks: Wisdom from the Front Porch, airs weekly on NPR. Like her radio segments, the stories in Just Plain Folks are meant both to entertain and to educate. Each story concludes with an author's note that places it in its proper cultural context.

If you find yourself in between one thing and another, changing from who you used to be into who you are becoming, how will you live in the messy, beautiful middle? And what if the middle pages hold storylines that wound and surprise? Is God with us on those pages, too? In Even If Not, Kaitlyn Bouchillon invites you to let go of trying to figure out the ending of your story and instead lean into the faithfulness of God. With honest and vulnerable storytelling from her own in between, Kaitlyn encourages you to say - no matter what page of the story you find yourself on - that although you believe God could come through how you're asking, you'll trust Him... even if not.

This collection was started years ago; some as you read will see that I went through different stages which resulted in different outlooks. Some poems have been sitting in my closet for awhile; some are from situations that happened to me and to others around me. My poetry is my opinion and my outlook. Some individual and situations inspired me, while others infuriated me, and some left me completely heartbroken. A lot of this is about relationships---the good, the bad and the ugly of it all and not only intimate relationships. I feel there are several different stages of the 3 L's of life that many must face and conquer to get to the ultimate level. As we live our lives, we love others in different ways; and we should learn from our mistakes, our success and our failures. We must not become stagnant and just exist we must live.
