Are all lies equal in measure? It's been six years since the woman I loved was mine. What Maverick and I had was brief. A gasp. A shooting star, so real, so vivid. Just out of reach. But lies meant to protect my family, her, forced her into my brother's arms instead of mine. And I'm left to pick up the destroyed pieces of my soul all alone. I don't want to love again. I can't. The part of me that was capable is too thickly scarred. My brother's wife is still the shadow behind the blink. The scorch in my lungs with every breath. But then she walks into my life, and I'm thrown. Isla McClain is innocuous. Intense. Unexpected. Random and variable. She drowns out the rumble of past failures like blessed white noise. And she is the only woman who can totally eclipse the one before her. Until I discover the true weight of a lie.

My Life as a Fake Claudia Burgoa

We all have one. A price. That magic number that will get us to agree to do anything, be anything. Don't sit on your gold-plated high horse and say you don't because you do. Everyone does.

Each of us has something we covet enough that we'd sell ourselves to have it. What's my tipping point, you ask?

Apparently a cool quarter mil will do the trick. What does one do for 250 large, you wonder? Anything the infamous, gorgeous playboy of Seattle wants. For the next four months I'll be Shaw Mercer's arm candy, his beck and call girl, his faux girlfriend. I'll be his to command, mold, push and pull in any direction he sees fit. I'll fight falling into bed with him. I'll fight falling in love with him even harder. I'll fail at both. And when my past and present collide in the most unexpected of ways, I'll learn that while one man's love for me has never died, the only man's love I really want will never be mine. *Due to mature content, 18+ years only.

 Memories. When does our past stop picking at our scars and start letting them heal? Scars. Can we see beyond our wounds to the possibilities the future holds? Possibilities. How do we let ourselves become vulnerable enough to trust the love that's right in front of us? Fate. She's a fickle, wily bitch that slaps us in the face every opportunity she gets. Sometimes it's a taunt, but sometimes it's a goddamn wake-up call to pay attention. Take what's rightfully yours without shame or apology. So when destiny put me straight in Alyse Kingsley's path once again, I knew this was one slap I wasn't ignoring. I'd let her get away once. I wouldn't again. She was mine and I was taking her, kicking and screaming if need be. Alyse ~ Deceit and betrayal. Every single person who was supposed to love me committed one of these. My mother. My father. My sister. My lover. Incapable of letting people see the real me, I hold them at arm's length. But

Asher Collway is relentless and it doesn't take long before I cave to his pursuits. The big question is: can I let him in where it counts most? Before ghosts from my past come back to haunt me in ways I can't possibly fathom? Before it's too late? Asher ~ Trust. Forgiveness. Impossible concepts, having been fucked over by a woman I'd loved before. But those aren't my only personality flaws. I'm possessive. I'm jealous. I'm dominant. I have a secret kink. I want Alyse. All of her. She shows people the shiny, untainted surface. I want the murky, damaged depth. The shadows. I want in all the way. Just when I think I've made it, fate cruelly bitch-slaps me again. And this time I don't see it coming. The question now is: what am I willing to do to keep the woman I love by my side? And can Alyse accept me the way I am, faults and all?
