Thou Art That is a compilation of previously uncollected essays and lectures by Joseph Campbell that focus on the Judeo-Christian tradition. Campbell explores common religious symbols, reexamining and reinterpreting them in the context of his remarkable knowledge of world mythology.Campbell believed that society often confuses the literal and metaphorical interpretations of religious stories and symbols. In this collection, he eloquently reestablishes these symbols as a means to enhance spiritual understanding and mystical revelation. With characteristic verve, he ranges from rich storytelling to insightful comparative scholarship. Included is editor Eugene Kennedy's classic interview with Campbell in the New York Times Magazine, which originally brought the scholar to the attention of the public.

So Far So Glorious

A few weeks ago I was sitting outside a nursing home with a friend of mine. It was a beautiful day, and she was loving getting out into the fresh air after many days not even seeing the outside. I read the first five verses of John's Gospel to her: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things were made through Him, and without Him nothing was made that was made. In Him was life, and the life was the light of men. And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it." John 1:1-5 She started singing, "Oh Lord my God, when I in awesome wonder, consider all the worlds Thy hands have made..." I joined in, and together, traffic noise and all, we sat out in front of her nursing home and sang all the verses we knew of "How Great Thou Art." This 9-lesson Bible Study of the first four chapters of John is all about the One we were singing to.

Oh, Gracious Father the Lord God, how mighty thou are, how great thou are my only true God. Please, hear my words, the words of a sinner, the words of sorrow. For I who has, on many occasions, shut you out. at those times I have been meek, weak and a coward. I now fall on my own sword, my knees. God, you have heard my prayers and all the times I have deserted you I know that you have been there. I know that your son Jesus Christ suffered and died on the cross to take away the sins of the world - my world, my sins. Father you and your Son saved me as a child, you gave me that spark, you held my hand to do the right thing, I know many times I have done the wrong thing and you have stood by me. A collection of poems and short writings for our time.
